Statutory law trumps common law in a way that makes it difficult to know what would have evolved in the common law.

On dairy cows, Hristov found he could reduce the amount of methane produced in the cows' rumen a portion.

To ask how many meds the best machine can make presupposes all of the practical problems have been solved, but we're not there yet.

The law's intent is to promote the intellectual property associated with the ideas, expressions, and content authors create.

Regarding my blogging to gain credibility: Should I be blogging without trying to gain credibility? I don't understand what your point is.